

PHASES OF TOXICITY

PHASE 1	PHASE 2	PHASE 3	PHASE 4	CELL MEMBRANE	PHASE 5	PHASE 6	PHASE 7
ELIMINATION	INFLAMMATION	INFECTION	BIO-ACCUMULATION	BIOLOGICAL DIVISION	DECOMPENSATION (DYSFUNCTION)	DEGENERATION	AUTO-IMMUNE or MUTATION
Elimination through perspiration, saliva, urine, feces, menses, ear wax, sinus, nose, eyes, skin	Inflammation anywhere in the body. Intense reactions by the reticulo-endothelial system, designed to eliminate a perceived threat.	Colonization of host organism by foreign species attracted by oxidized cell debris. The host response to infection is inflammation.	Active congealing and depositing of toxic material in less vital body areas. Benign cysts, tumors, cholesterol, encapsulated toxins, fibrosis, stones, spurs, stenosis, cellulite, heavy fat layers.		Mitochondrial dysfunction. Breakdown of immune activity. Failure to defend inner cell areas from toxins.	Destruction of mitochondria. Disruption of cellular and tissue functions. Disruption of tissue groups. Heavy blood coagulation.	Alteration of genetic material. Chronic oxygen deprivation creates anaerobic cell states. Potential for malignancies: all stages of cancerous cells. (Uncontrolled cell destruction and proliferation).
↓ UpH - (Chemstrip) ↓ Cell debris	↑ Nitrate (Nitrate Test) ↑ Oxidation (Oxidata)	↑ Leukocytes (Chemstrip) ↑ Nitrite (Chemstrip)	↑ Electrolytes (Electrolytes) ↑ Ammonia		↑ Ammonia ↑ Nitrate + ↑ Oxidation (= Peroxynitrate)	↑ Ammonia ↑ Nitrate ↑ Electrolytes ↑ Oxidation	↑ Ammonia ↑ Nitrate (Chronic) ↑ Electrolytes ↑ Oxidation

OVERVIEW OF TOXICITY →				<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Diseases are "biological goal-oriented actions" • GOAL: Elimination of all dangerous toxins • Toxins are both Endogenous and Exogenous • Blocked detox pathways stimulate more aggressive reactions • Reactions may occur in new (or other) tissue sites • They may appear unrelated to original issue • All phases form a unified reaction process
